Italians Take 23,681 Prisoners in Offensive

OFFICIAL STATEMENT FROM ROME TELLS OF SUCCESS OF ITALIAN TROOPS SINCE THE DRIVE BEGAN

For The Moment Italians Have Ceased Titanic Efforts Toward Trieste And Are Concentrating In North Around Gorizia—British and French Report Comparative Calm on West Front.

ROME, May 29.—(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) On the southern end of the line, near the head of the Gulf of Trieste, in the Austro-Italian theatre, the Italians for the moment have ceased their titanic effort to push forward to Trieste and heavy fighting again is in progress to the north around Gorizia, Plava and the Vodice. East of Gorizia and on the Vodice the Austrians attempted to carry the offensive to the Italians, but the artillery fire of the Italians stopped the assaults and in the last-named sector the Italians themselves delivered an attack, and despite stubborn resistance, made progress on the southeastern slope of Hill 52. Likewise in the Plava region the Austrians were driven back and lost 100 men made prisoner. Around San Giovanni and Duino, at the lower end of the line, the Austrians heavily bombarded the Italians in their new positions and ineffectually tried to oust them. The Italians have taken 23,681 prisoners since the new battle from Tolmino to the sea began.

Italian Official Report.

The Italian war office communication issued last night reads: "In the Carso yesterday the enemy showed great activity with guns and trench mortars with the object of disturbing our work of strengthening our lines. An attack against our positions along the railway east of Saint Giovanni and Duino was repulsed by our artillery.

"East of Gorizia last night and all of yesterday enemy guns of all calibres were engaged in throwing a heavy concentration of fire on Hill 126, south of Grazigna. The furious reply of our batteries many times dispersed enemy storming parties, massing for assault in the advanced trenches.

Artillery Activity.

"The artillery activity in the Vodice area was not less violent against our positions on Hill 52. In the morning an attack in force by strong enemy parties against the summit of the hill was broken by the prompt action of our troops. Our infantry, overcoming the tenacious resistance of the enemy hidden in caves, made important progress on the southeastern slope of the hill and established themselves in these positions.

Prisoners Captured.

"The total number of prisoners captured on the Julian front since May 14 is 23,681, including 604 officers. The great quantity of material captured during the battle is being collected. We already have counted 26 guns, 13 of which are of heavy calibre, 148 machine guns and 27 trench mortars. In addition we have taken a large quantity of rifles and war material of every description."

French Report Calm.

PARIS, May 29.—The official communication issued by the war office tonight reads:

"There is nothing to report during the course of the day, except artillery fighting, sometimes violent, at the Massif of Moronvillers, and particularly on Casque and Teton.

"Belgian communication: 'There was slight artillery activity on the part of the enemy. German aviators having bombarded during the evening the region of Fort Henn, our aviators in reprisal, dropped during the night, bombs on the barracks at Praet Poth.'"

British Report Raid.

LONDON, May 29.—The British official communication issued this evening says:

"We carried out a successful raid early this morning east of Richebourg-L'Avoue (northwest of La Bassée).

"Two German airplanes were brought down yesterday in air fighting. Six others were driven down out of control. Five of our airplanes are missing."

Lord Aberdeen is on a brief visit to the capital.

ACTIVITY IS RENEWED IN EAST AFRICA

Wet Season Has Ended and British Troops Are Chasing Huns.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) LONDON, May 29.—An official communication issued this evening concerning the operations in East Africa, says:

"The exceptional wet season has ended, and the improved weather conditions have brought about a renewal of the military activity. The early days of May witnessed a general southward movement of the German forces in the Haffa valley and in the coastal area, and of some to the Mandu valley, while farther south raiders invaded Portuguese territory and approached the border of Nyassaland, burning native villages, terrorizing the inhabitants, and removing food supplies to German depots.

"There were many patrol encounters and occasional collisions between larger forces. The German columns which evacuated the Mahenge district in February moved rapidly in two main parties, one to the Portuguese border and the other, commanded by Major Wintgens, breaking northward over our columns and reaching Kitunda, on their way for Tabora. On May 6 the latter was pursued by British, Rhodesian and other troops. Major Wintgens was killed on May 23 in the vicinity of Lukalanka, 81 miles south of Tabor.

"A Belgian column is co-operating with the British base on the Central railway.

SPECIAL NOTES TO MARK ANNIVERSARY OF CONFEDERATION

Souvenir Currency Likely Instead of Postal Cards or Postage Stamps.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) OTTAWA, May 29.—When the house was in supply Hon. Charles Macdougall, Minister of Finance, announced that there should be issued specially designed Dominion notes of the various smaller denominations to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of confederation.

Sir Thomas White said that the suggestion was a good one and worthy of serious consideration. The suggestion was that there should be issued a souvenir series of postal cards or stamps commemorated to him, and that action might be taken along the lines suggested by Mr. Macdougall.

LAURIER AND BORDEN HOLD CONFERENCE

Leaders of Parties Probably Talked of Conscription.

OTTAWA, May 29.—Beyond the fact that Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier were in conference today for a short time today there is nothing new in the political and parliamentary situation here tonight. No one knows what took place between the two leaders but it is generally believed that the situation arising out of the proposal to introduce a conscription measure and possibly the bill to extend the life of parliament were the matters discussed. The opinion still generally prevails that the conscription bill will be brought down and introduced in parliament on Thursday or Friday, although it may possibly go over until early next week.

RACE RIOTS GROW SERIOUS IN ST. LOUIS

Negroes Armed With Shotguns Are Massed In Section Of City.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., May 29.—Three white men were shot by negroes at 10 o'clock tonight and the situation grows more menacing hourly. Negroes, armed with shotguns, rifles and revolvers, have massed in their sections of the city and several clashes have occurred.

The race riots began late last night shortly after a committee from the labor union and members of the city council to protest against further importations of negroes from the south to work in the stock yards and packing houses.

At that time large mobs were formed and in the rioting which resulted one negro was shot, several were badly beaten and hundreds of negroes were driven across the river into St. Louis. Three more negroes were shot early tonight.

Hon. Frank Oliver's Tariff Amendments Are All Voted Down

Proposals For General Reduction Of Duties, Increased British Preference, Free Agricultural Implements and Reciprocal Free Trade Voted Down by Strict Party Vote—Knowles, of Moose Jaw, Endorses Member for Edmonton.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) OTTAWA, May 29.—The house divided today on Hon. Frank Oliver's tariff amendments to the budget proposal calling for a general reduction of the tariff, an increase in the British preference of 50 per cent of the general tariff, free agricultural implements, etc., and reciprocal free trade in food products. The proposals were voted down on a division of 65 to 13.

Dr. McInnes, Liberal member for South Wellington, however, differed with his party in regard to two of the proposals contained in Mr. Oliver's amendment, a general revision of the tariff downward and an increase in the British preference. In regard to these matters he took practically the same stand as Sir Thomas White, minister of finance, declaring the time was inopportune for the revision of the tariff. Mr. Guthrie said that parliament should devote itself entirely to the business of winning the war and that such proposed measures as the nationalization of railways and the highway bill should go over until after the war. He supported free wheat, free agricultural implements and free food, and advocated the appointment of a food dictator with wide powers.

Supported Mr. Oliver. Speeches in support of the amendment were made by Dr. Molloy of Pelly, J. E. Knowles, Moose Jaw, and A. Verville, Montreal, before the division was taken. Dr. Molloy said he would be remiss in duty if he did not support the amendment of the tariff.

HIGHLANDS PEOPLE HEAR FRED DUNCAN TO RUSSIANS

Enthusiastic Meeting Is Held In Highlands School—Candidate Well Received.

Enthusiasm ran high in Fred Duncan's meeting in the Highlands public school Tuesday night. The Liberal candidate for East Edmonton was applauded time and again, and like treatment was accorded H. H. Parlee, K. C., W. J. McGrath and Mrs. R. H. Kneil. In his concluding remarks Mr. Duncan, who is a native of Scotland, referred to his political career ever held in that district, according to several of those attending. "If you favor the class of legislation that has been passed by the Dominion government, then support the Liberal candidate in East Edmonton, because I believe in that class of legislation and will support it as long as I live," he said. "I am a native of Scotland, and I believe in the class of legislation that has been passed by the Dominion government, then support the Liberal candidate in East Edmonton, because I believe in that class of legislation and will support it as long as I live," he said.

MAYOR HENRY QUOTES RETURNS AT MEETING

Race Cry of Opposition Shows Desperation of Conservatives.

"If we believe in our province we shall want it to progress in the future as much as it has progressed in the past," said Mayor Henry when addressing the Liberal gathering at Victoria High school last night. "And it will," he went on, "provided that the government adopts a progressive policy. Judging from what they have done in the past, we know what the situation administration will do in the future. As for the other side, I have read their advertised program very carefully, and I find in it nothing but destruction. There is no attempt at constructive policy. For myself, public office means public service, and I believe that I can serve you all and the city in the capacity of a member of the legislature, and if you elect me I shall esteem it an honor. If you do not, I shall be tickled to death to stay at home."

Mayor Henry said that the government had been subjected to criticism for calling an election. It seemed to him that they would have been more subject to criticism if they had not done so. The government had five sessions and it would have had another one, although they might have kept on six months or so more. But what would have been the reason for so doing? Also the women had not recorded their vote and therefore were not represented in the government. It seemed only right that the women should be given the chance to be represented by the legislature at an early date as possible. It was something very inconsistent on the part of the opposition to say "what a rotten government," and then go on and ask why don't you go on for another two years or more until the war is over."

"The Race Cry is Terrible." Mayor Henry characterized as "terrible" the statements that were being made by the opposition and its press in raising the race cry, and in saying that votes were being taken from the soldiers and that they were being taken away from the women. He said that he did not think that there was a paper in the province that would have condoned to that kind of stuff, knowing that it was absolutely untrue, and that Mr. Stiffler would not take away or give a single vote to anyone. The first principles of British government were freedom and consideration of the rights of others, and it was in defence of these principles that their boys and his boys were fighting and giving their lives. To say that you should not give the freedom of the soldier's vote to the women stood was not being true to the principles of British fair play.

Mayor Henry then explained how the soldiers were to be given representation in the legislature. He said that in the House of Commons there were 13 members, eleven of whom were soldiers and two others who could be soldiers who would be asked to represent directly the needs of the soldiers, and that they could better fitted to act as their representatives than soldiers themselves," asked the speaker. He believed that the soldiers would appreciate this policy and that they would work for the re-

Statement is False Says Hon. Mr. Boyle

In an endeavor to bolster up a failing cause the Edmonton Journal dares to say that the government has gone to even greater lengths than usual in its policy of misrepresentation in an endeavor to mislead a misled and therefore with reference to the political campaign.

As an example of its tactics the following statement is quoted: "The Conservatives of Sturgeon district are on the lookout for Jesse Lovett, one of Hon. J. St. Boyle's supporters during the past elections, who has been residing in Detroit, Mich., for the last fifteen months, where he was in the employ of the Studebaker Company. Mr. Lovett was an arrival in Edmonton on Monday and expressed great surprise when informed that there was an election pending. The man from Michigan is now in the Sturgeon riding."

The paragraph was called to the attention of Hon. Mr. Boyle yesterday and he characterized it as a deliberate attempt to cast a veil of truth, in so far as it referred to him. "I have never imported any man from Michigan to aid in election work," said Mr. Boyle. "No man by the name of Lovett was ever employed by me in any election."

"The story was evidently circulated," continued the minister, "to cover up the fact that many of the notorious old Roblin-Rogers gang have been imported from Manitoba and are working extensively among the Ruthenians on behalf of the Ruthenian candidate, who is apparently in close touch with the Conservative organization."

Another statement, featured in the Journal, that election proclamations were not posted according to law in Sturgeon, was also referred to by Mr. Boyle.

"The returning officer is a man of repute," he said, "who has always conducted the election fairly, and I am satisfied he will do so again. He has been given instructions from me regarding posting proclamations."

DROVE 42 HOGS TO EDMONTON SELLS THEM FOR SUM OF $1,092

Animals Were From Litters of October 25th Last, and After Being Brought Through Unusually Severe Winter Without Loss, Averaged 171 Pounds at Age of 7 Months.

One of the most effective ways in which the farmer can drive dollars to town during these times of high prices was that in which G. A. Wilkinson of six miles north of the city figured when he brought in a drove of 42 hogs to the Edmonton stockyards. The hogs were driven in along the road in a few hours and were sold for the handsome sum of $1,092. The most significant fact in this instance to men in the hog raising business was not the price nor the means taken to bring the animals to market. What is of most interest is that the animals were born litters of October 25th, last fall, and that they not only were brought through the unusually severe winter without loss, but weighed when sold, at the age of seven months, on an average 171 pounds. The price obtained was $15.87 1/2 per hundred weight, a total of $28 for each hog.

Mr. Wilkinson adopted the most direct methods in his venture of producing winter pigs. The litters were from the first allowed to bed themselves in straw shelters, constructed of threshed straw blown over small pole sheds. Here the young pigs were permitted to roam at will during the entire winter, being fed dry oat chop with an ample supply of water. For the last month previous to the sale the animals were given chopped barley with the oats. Mr. Wilkinson estimates that the grain fed brought him him fully $1 per bushel, which was something in advance of even the high oat prices prevailing for the last six months. "To make a success of pigs keep the curl in their tails," is the advice of this veteran farmer of the district.

JOHN A. McDOUGALL TAKING NO PART IN ALBERTA CAMPAIGN

Asks Bulletin To Make Statement About Use of His Name In Tory Advt.

"I am not taking any part in the political campaign," was the statement made last night to The Bulletin by John A. McDougall, whose name has been mentioned in political advertisements as holding money for parties who are criticizing the Liberal administration in the province, but who, up to the present, has made these statements anonymously.

"They apparently want to put me behind the statements and make it look as though they had my backing," continued Mr. McDougall. "I wish to say that I am not behind the statements in any manner or form other than that a certain party came to me and asked me if I would act as stakeholder, telling me at the same time that he was running an advertisement for $250 and I agreed to be stakeholder. I was asked to hold the check, and that is all I have to do with the matter."

WATER IS TOO WARM SAY THE MERCHANTS

Complain to Commissioners Regarding Temperature Which Piles Up Their Expense

All the produce merchants of the city, including the Edmonton Cold Storage Co., Gainer's Ltd., the Edmonton City Dairy, the Woodland Dairy, are complaining to the commissioners about the city water being several degrees hotter than it should be owing to the Alliance Power Co. returning hot water into the sedimentation basin. These firms say that owing to this practice the cost of cold storage is increased to what it would be if they had water at the same temperature as the river.

So far no satisfactory settlement has been arrived at, as the city needs the warm water, especially in the winter, when the sedimentation basin requires heating, but the commissioners will arrange for a meeting with the representatives of the firms and talk over the matter.

Invitations will also be extended to provincial and civic officials to be present.

Mayor's Son Is a Prisoner And Wounded

That Lieut. Reg. Henry, son of Mayor Henry, is a prisoner of the Germans was confirmed today by a cable received from Commissioner Reid, who represents the province of Alberta in London.

Lieut. Henry is also wounded. The cable sent by Commissioner Reid to Mayor Henry, and which arrived at the city hall reads as follows:

"May 29th.—Just received card from Reg. dated April 8th, saying that slightly wounded in right leg, location to be advised later. Mailing card."

MERCURY DROPS BELOW 32 AT EARLY HOUR

Gardeners Have Had Very Worrisome Time Recently.

Where gardens and near-gardens have been spread so lavishly over the city landscape, at a heavy price in sundry blisters, the palpitation of the thermometer during the past couple of nights has brought forth to the cultivated areas, after the "lights out" period each evening, an apprehensive and shirt-sleeved army of business men, as well as high-class amateur and bona fide professional gardeners, who cast eyes aloft to seek encouragement for the sake of the tender peas and potatoes which were making a start in life. The apprehension has been well founded in view of the startling dips in temperature, dips which brought the mercury down to the frost line in some parts of the city and in others coated stray water pipes with ice.

At the Meteorological office the lowest point touched Tuesday morning was at 3 o'clock when the glass stood at 30. However at this station of the weather bureau no frost showed, as old Sunday morning when the reading was 29 degrees. Officially the reason is that on Sunday morning the ground was very wet from Saturday's rain and the humidity was at par, or 100 per cent. Tuesday morning the ground was dry and the percentage of humidity in the air was 83. Hence the absence of frost on the fledgling grass when the sun peeped over the horizon. Some reports brought down town by the business men previously mentioned, and, however of real frost in some sections of the city. No damage is reported it may be said, except in cases where pumpkins and other fruit in the head prematurely and were left uncovered. The gardeners who have vegetation far advanced are far in the minority and the set-back which general gardens might suffer from the frost is slight indeed. No injury to the grain crops is expected, but the unreasonable drop in the temperature.

RESERVE MILITIA SAYS GOODBYE TO CAPTAIN POOLE

Popular Adjutant Is Leaving For The East—March Down Town Follows Parade.

There was a big turnout at the parade of the Edmonton battalion, reserve militia, last night. At parade Major Burns, who was in command, made a short address expressive of the appreciation felt by the reserve militia on account of the services of Captain F. H. Poole, the adjutant, who has been attached to the H. M. S. Niobe, at Halifax, as naval transport officer. Captain Poole leaves for the East tomorrow and a number of his fellow officers are proposing to give him a send-off. The battalion, headed by the band, marched down town after the parade and made an exceptionally good showing.

VESSEL SUNK, CREW RESCUED CHRISTIANIA, NORWAY, VIA LONDON, MAY 29

The Norwegian steamer Norweg, May 29, 1917, was sunk by gunfire on Saturday, while on her way to her home port. The crew were rescued by a passing steamer.

NOW BELIEVED MAN ACCUSED IS INSANE

Peter Caspary is Arraigned in Police Court and Remanded "to Await Pleasure of Lieutenant-Governor in Council."

Expert evidence given by Dr. G. H. Macdonald before Magistrate Barclay, Tuesday morning, substantiated the opinion of neighbors that Peter J. Caspary, alias Peter Casper, is not in a fit condition to be at large. Caspary appeared to answer a charge of murdering R. E. Prouse in their home at Magnolia and was committed to the custody of the attorney general to await the pleasure of the lieutenant-governor in council. Dr. Macdonald testified that Caspary is suffering from delusional insanity. He said that on one occasion when he visited the prisoner in his cell, Caspary crawled to him on his hands and knees and made signs to indicate that something was in his throat.

About May 12th Caspary's shack, a few miles from Magnolia, was found burned and the charred remains of one of the inmates were also found. At this time it was thought these were Caspary's and that Prouse had been burned to a crisp. An inquest was held supposedly on Caspary. Some days later Caspary walked into a neighbor's house and asked for food. Provincial Detective Campbell was immediately sent to arrest the man. Frederick Guerin, whose auto is alleged to have knocked down Mrs. Sophia Wriglesworth and her two children at Jasper avenue on May 20, and who is facing a charge of furiously driving his auto, occasioning bodily harm, appeared in the court Tuesday and was remanded till Thursday.

Case Is Withdrawn

Inspector of Detectives Shaw, saying he was acting on instructions, requested the withdrawal of the charge of a breach of the liquor act against John Brown, a returned soldier. Magistrate Barclay withdrew the charge. Fifty dollars and costs or thirty days in jail is what it cost Fred. Usroon for allowing P. C. Connup to find a bottle of whiskey on him.

For creating a disturbance in the We should Worry Cafe, Jasper avenue, Archibald Stevenson was fined $3 and costs or ten days in jail.

Ernest Meadon, who bought an automobile a week ago, was fined $3 and costs for a breach of the motor vehicles act. He drove slowly past a standing street car at 111th street and Jasper avenue on May 21st.

CIVIL SUIT IS BEGUN IN THE BODNER CASE

Criminal Action is Still in Preliminary Hearing Stage at Police Court

Peter Bodner, complainant in the case where William B. Channel, Fred Schwalbe, J. J. Burns and Wm. Garke, alias Jack Cornell, are charged with false pretences in connection with the transfer of Bodner's farm to one John Anderson, has commenced a suit in a civil court for the return of his farm, implements and the stock that has not been sold and damages for that which has been disposed of. The defendants in this case are Channel, Schwalbe and Henry S. Reznecneer. Bodner asks for $25,000 as an alternative to the return of his farm, implements and stock.

Channel, Schwalbe, Burns and Garke are now going through preliminary hearings in the police court on the charge of false pretences and in the police court Tuesday morning the prosecution finished its case. Terant Terank, who was present in the Alberta hotel, when it is charged the necessary papers for the transferring of Bodner's farm to Anderson were signed, was the last witness for the prosecution and testified that Channel was present when the papers were signed.

It is not expected that the civil action will reach the courts for another month. The preliminary police court hearings in the criminal proceedings will be finished shortly and the case will most likely be sent to a higher court in September.

H. I. Robertson commenced his defence at the afternoon sitting of the court by calling Harry White, of the firm of Hyndman, Milner & Matheson. White was the "lawyer" referred to by previous witnesses as the one who drew up the papers for the transfer of the farm to Anderson.

In his evidence White stated that the only people in the room at the Alberta hotel while he was present were Bodner, Schwalbe, Anderson and Terank. Witnesses for the prosecution have sworn that Channel and Burns were also present. He admitted drawing up the papers for the transfer of the property, implements and stock to Anderson, and on March 8th drawing up a new set of papers transferring the entire proposition from Anderson to Channel and witnessed the paying of $4,200 by Channel to Anderson. He also testified that he drew up a mortgage between H. S. Reznecneer and Channel.

James H. Magee, of Calgary, told of writing to Burns and asking him to come to Calgary between the dates of March 7th and 12th. A few minutes after he met Burns in the station he said Bodner approached them. He denied that Burns had stated that he would go to the States with Bodner, as has been sworn.

SIX MILE SPEED LIMIT FOR CARS IMPRACTICABLE

Automobile Club Issues Statement—Regulations Reasonable If Public Observe Care.

The Edmonton Automobile club, through its president J. A. Brookbank, has issued the following statement in answer to the protest of a "city business man" to Mayor Henry, against automobile speeding on the city streets.

"No body of citizens in Edmonton, is more anxious to eliminate the harmful practice of auto speeding than the Automobile club itself. One of the cardinal principles of this organization, and the observation of which is essential to membership in the club, is compliance with the law not only in respect to the speed at which members drive, but also in regard to every other regulation in connection with auto traffic. It should be pointed out, however, that the proposal made in the letter referred to, that automobiles should not travel more than six miles per hour between Nansay and 109th street, is out of the question, because very few autos can be throttled down to travel as slow as six miles per hour except on low or intermediate gears, the condition of which of course, as every driver knows is impracticable."

Regulations Reasonable

"The regulation as to the speed of autos in the city, at present, namely, 15 miles per hour between Nansay and 109th street, and 20 miles per hour in the other portions of the city, are reasonable so far as the drivers are concerned, and absolutely safe for the public, provided the latter observe ordinary precautions, and drivers exercise ordinary care. It is, however, a fact that the most casual observer will verify, that very frequently pedestrians will entirely ignore the fact that they are not supposed to cross streets except at the corners, and intersections, and their failure to observe reasonable precautions in regard to their own safety, frequently throws unwarranted onus on the drivers of automobiles, and if accidents happen, as they are almost bound to do under these circumstances, naturally the blame is generally thrown upon the driver whereas perhaps he may be entirely innocent of any carelessness."

Want to Co-operate

"The desire of the Automobile club to co-operate with the regularly constituted authorities for mutual protection and safety, is shown by the fact that recently officers of the club waited on Commissioner Harrison, and asked for the co-operation of the city, co-operation, which if given effectively would result not only beneficially to the drivers of automobiles but also to the public who use the streets and who are, of course, entitled to every protection, a right which the Automobile club as an organization, fully recognizes."

Many people are planting gardens in vacant lots without permission, thinking it all right to do so. This no doubt will lead to trouble later on for the reason that the owners of the property being used are intending to plant gardens also. Permission must be granted by the Garden club or by the owner. It would be well to make sure before proceeding further.

Women Are Going to Decide Election for Liberal Party

Mayor Henry Makes Statement at Enthusiastic Meeting Held in Blue Moon Tea Room on Tuesday Afternoon—Mrs. McClung Also Gives Splendid Address to Women Electors.

"I believe that the women are going to win this election for the Liberal party," was the assurance given by Mayor Henry to a highly successful gathering of ladies held at the Blue Moon Tea Rooms on Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting was called to support the candidature of Mayor Henry for West Edmonton, and the attendance and enthusiasm and attention given to the speakers were evidences that the Liberal ladies are upholding their part in the election. Mrs. H. C. Knight presided over the gathering in a very capable manner.

Pleased With Enthusiasm Mayor Henry was given an excellent reception and he told the audience that he was delighted with the enthusiasm that is being shown by the women, both in working and attending meetings. He had had a very gratifying meeting the previous day in another part of the city, and considering that the enumerators are placing women on the voting list at the rate of two to every man, he believed that the women were going to win the election for the Liberal party.

Continue as Mayor Mayor Henry then reiterated his assurance that if elected or not, he meant to continue in his position as mayor. He had been in Edmonton for a quarter of a century, had assisted somewhat in its development, and did not intend to go back on it at this late hour.

Mayor Henry amused his hearers by his allusions to the attitude taken up by the opposition in regard to the act brought in by the Liberal government. He remarked that the opposition were not attempting to criticize what had been done, "they acknowledged that the acts were all good and were trying to obtain credit for them all, going around saying, 'We thought of it' and the government carried them out."

First in Canada Speaking of women's suffrage Mayor Henry interpolated a little personal note, saying that the city of Edmonton was the first city in the whole of Canada to give the women the vote. It was at his personal solicitation that the committee dealing with the matter made a favorable report to council, recommending that the vote be given. This was done, and afterwards the province followed suit.

Mrs. McClung "I emphatically repeat that I ever repeated that I have made here," said Mrs. Nellie McClung. "It has been said so persistently, 'rumors' she has been paid for my political services that I must say it. When I went to Calgary to speak on the same platform as Premier Borden, I told it again if I thought it necessary."

"I am not bound to any party,"

The Daily Poem

FOR THE FAILEN.

They shall not grow old, as we that are left grow old; Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn; At the going down of the sun and in the morning We will remember them.

They mingle not with their laughing comrades again; They sit no more at familiar tables of home; They have no lot in our labor of the daytime; They sleep beyond England's foam.

But where our desires are and our hopes profound, Felt as a well-spring that is hidden from sight, To the innermost heart of their own land they are known; As the stars are known to the night.

As the stars that shall be bright when we are dust, Moving in marches upon the heavenly plain; As the stars that are starry in the tone, When the great darkness, the end they remain.

—LAWRENCE BINYON.

continued the speaker. "I am independent of any political party." Alluding to the entry of women into politics, Mrs. McClung said that the women were finding that in order to keep their homes clean they had to go out and scrub their own door steps. Women, though, had not invaded the realm of politics, but politics had invaded women's realm. Politics was something new to them, and they were only fairly taking their way. Therefore they should read, listen, and take heed of all that they could of both sides. No party had a corner in good men.

Liberalism More United Proceeding to some analysis of the two parties, Mrs. McClung said that in a new country like the West, Liberalism was more united to its needs. It stood for all that was broad-minded and progressive. They were a nation in the building and they had to begin to think of the city, and in the best sense of the meaning of the two parties it seemed that Liberalism was the best thing for the West. She thought that only fairly they were taking their way. The government had put on the statute books of the province some of the best legislation and that which was best adapted to the needs of the West.

Given Voluntarily Mrs. McClung cited how prohibition had been made law in the province as an example of the good work done by the Liberal government. The Liberals were worthy of honor for having given the women the suffrage. They had given it voluntarily, neither sticks nor stones were held over their heads to compel them to act. The people asked for it and they got it, and she believed in the government which gave the people what they wanted. It was not right to keep power in the hands of a few, but it must be in the hands of the people.

Again Mrs. McClung pointed out how the women had given protection to the women, and saved them from being sold of the fruits of their labor labor.

Above all things, said Mrs. McClung, the Liberal government appealed to her in one particular, and that was this—they were amenable to reason as in the liquor act, when they consented to put in amendments to strengthen it.

Mrs. McClung then dealt with the agitation which the opposition were stirring up against the aliens. She said that when the war broke out Premier Borden in a manifesto promised the people, so long as they remained loyal, that their rights and liberties should not be taken away. This cry against them now was one of the most sinister things that had happened of late years—this stirring up of hate. Late world had been enough of hatred during recent years. It was not creditable to any party that these people should be deprived of their vote after Premier Borden had promised to give them the vote.

The ladies present were the guest of Mrs. Horace C. Wright, at the time of the gathering, and they were afforded to talk over the situation.

Engagement Presents

To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—Is it customary for relatives—that is, close ones—to give presents to a girl when her engagement is announced? And if so, what is the right thing for a gift? Also, which family calls first, the girl's or her fiancée's? CAROL.

Let us first become almost a girl, for relatives and intimate friends to send the bride-to-be something for her trousseau. A girl is generally surrounded by feminine members of the family and feminine friends, however. A piece of lingerie or household linen is always an appropriate gift. A bride-to-be's family should call on his fiancée's family first. Both sides of the family then should entertain the two at informal dinners and such affairs.

Daughters of Empire Demand That Premier Borden Take Steps to Punish Col. Armand

Victoria Convention Urges That Quebec Nationalist Be Stripped of King's Uniform Which They Declare He Has Disgraced—Urges Strong Measures by Government to Suppress Outbreak for Its "Salutary Effect."

VICTORIA, B.C., May 29.—Demand that Premier Borden at once take drastic measures to the utmost limit of the law to punish Colonel Armand Lavergne for his treasonable conduct, and that he be deprived of all rank and insignia pertaining to the same, was made by nearly 500 members of the national chapter of the Daughters of the Empire from all parts of Canada at the first business session of their annual meeting in the Empress Hotel here today.

The meeting also passed an expression of confidence in, and support of, the prime minister. "The existing situation in which he is placed," and suggested that strong measures to suppress the Lavergne outbreak in Quebec were imperative. "The existing situation in which he is placed," and suggested that strong measures to suppress the Lavergne outbreak in Quebec were imperative. "The existing situation in which he is placed," and suggested that strong measures to suppress the Lavergne outbreak in Quebec were imperative.

Enthusiastically, the formal resolution which was brought up by Miss Constance Boulton, of Toronto, and seconded by Mrs. Wolff, Quebec City, was passed amidst a tremendous demonstration by the delegates. A whole meeting rose and sang "God Save the King."

Suspended the Rules In order to present and deal with the resolution the convention temporarily suspended its rules. Mrs. A. E. Goodrich, of Toronto, who presided, hesitated about suspending the rules when the request was made by Miss Boulton. The proposal was put to the members of the meeting. They voted that the rules should be suspended in this instance as the question was one of urgent national importance.

It is time for us to speak out in this time of stress and tragedy," said Miss Boulton. "The very reading of our name, Daughters of the Empire, carries with it loyalty. This is a matter of importance and urgency to our nation."

Mrs. Wolff, regent of the Quebec municipal chapter, was loudly applauding when she rose to second the resolution, and announced that she was one of the representatives of the province that is causing the trouble.

"It is a disgrace the way Armand Lavergne struts around the streets of Quebec wearing the king's uniform," said Mrs. Wolff. "It is not the fault of the people of Quebec. It is their misfortune. They are misled by a few Nationalists. The French-Canadians are much better than they are painted by the rest of the country."

Text of Resolution The resolution as passed by the convention follows: Resolved, That this annual meeting of the I. O. E., now in session assembled, send forward at once an expression of confidence in and support of the prime minister of Canada in the present trying situation in which he is placed as the representative of this country.

And, He it further resolved to earnestly request the prime minister that drastic measures be taken to the utmost limit of the law be taken to punish the treasonable conduct of Monsieur Armand Lavergne and that he be deprived of all rank and insignia pertaining to the profession which he disgraces, and by the holding of which he insults our noble troops and their splendid record.

This meeting also desires humbly to express the belief that such strong measures will have a salutary effect upon the confused and hesitating attitude of the people of this country in this crisis through which it is passing.

Following the unanimous endorsement of her resolution, Miss Boulton sank back in her seat on the platform. This is the greatest moment in my life," she said when delegates from all parts of the hall rushed to congratulate her.

Brasil Diplomatic Commission Urges Adoption of Strong Naval Measures

Rio Janeiro, May 29.—Seizure of German ships and adoption of naval measures against Germany in collaboration with the entente allies is recommended by the diplomatic commission of the chamber of deputies, to which was referred the message of President Bra regarding the torpedoing of the Brazilian steamship Tijuca. The commission decided to submit to congress a bill authorizing the president to order the seizure of German ships in Brazilian ports, or revocation of the neutrality decree in the war between Germany and the United States will be amended so as to provide also for cancellation of the secret of neutrality in the war between the central empires and the European allies.

Judging Flour To the Editor of Woman's Page: Dear Madam—How can good flour be told, and what kind of contains is best for keeping it? READER.

The best flour has a slight yellow tinge and a very faint, pleasant odor especially after wetting. Dazzling whiteness shows a bad thing; a gray tinge or tiny black specks, seen only under a magnifying glass, denotes the use of spoiled grain. Clutch a handful; if it takes the imprint of your finger, it is a large percentage of gluten. To test for a mixture of corn, wet a pinch of it to a stiff dough; then wash the starch out of it in cold water; if the residue is tough and sticky, it is a large percentage of gluten. To test for a mixture of corn, dry a pinch of it over the heat, without scorching it, then rub between the fingers. Pure wheat flour will not feel gritty, but corn will be a little rough, no matter how finely ground.

"JOAN THE WOMAN"

"Joan the Woman" the superfilm being displayed at the Empire theatre is like the great Joan of Arc was inspired. But whereas we have learned to view the world's greatest woman as a super-human, "Joan the Woman" shows her as very human indeed—a woman suffering all the emotions of womanhood, but foregoing them all for France. Here is shown, not the sanctified leading of armies by a goddess, but the suffering and travail of a woman to bear new life to a nation.

The picture is a gripping, gripping, gripping—as far above other pictures as Joan was above other women. In it is seen all the genius of one of America's great artists, Geraldine Farrar, the Metropolitan Opera star, gave up her operatic work for months to help in the creation of this picture, and the results have established her as one of the premier film actresses of America.

In "Joan the Woman" is all the tragedy and beauty of life. So truly is it staged and so universally fascinating is the life of the "Maid of Orleans" that we live the picture as it passes before us. The film has very clearly been so constructed that it connects the story with the present times.

The picture opens with a prologue. A young British soldier fighting on the western front discovers a strange sword of the XIV century lying in one of the trenches. While he is examining it a call comes for a volunteer to blow up a certain enemy trench at midnight. The British soldier takes the sword and passes the vision of Joan of Arc.

In this vision he is Eric Trent, a gallant English knight fighting with his king to conquer France from Charles VII. He is wounded, and a strange peasant maid, Joan, finds him and binds his wounds, saving his life. It is while she is examining his wounds that she sees the vision that takes her to the court as the destined savior of France.

In the first battle that she fights, Trent is captured. Following the victory, her only request is that Trent be released and that the people of her village never be taxed. He falls in love with the maid and pleads for a return of blood, and neither her husband nor her father can answer: "There is love in each heart but one being—mine is for France."

Trent goes to the court of the Duke of Burgundy, who is an ally of England's. There one of his first duties is to lead a raid to capture the city of Orleans. He leads a party to the city and is killed. The Duke's son, the Duke of Alençon, is killed. The Duke's son, the Duke of Alençon, is killed.

He awakens with the message of Joan of Arc in his hand. He is told that she is a woman, and that she has been made out of the mightiest pictures of a woman. He is told that she is a woman, and that she has been made out of the mightiest pictures of a woman.

Sporting Facts and Fancies

The real pessimist is the fan who turns to the sporting page to see which team lost the game.

And poor little old Boston is stuck up in the lead of the race just like the Hock of Gibraltar.

In these days of simplified spelling and perverted English, the slang term "Iron Man" has come into use in many callings. The expression has found its greatest use in the grand old pastime of baseball.

In these days pitchers who are able to throw more than two games a week are referred to as "Iron Men" and the term is justly applied. In this connection it may be of some enlightenment to recall that Joseph McElroy Mann, 75, of Princeton was the original "Iron Man" and that he first put the curve ball into practical use in a baseball game.

On October 23, 1874, the Philadelphia team visited Princeton and Mr. Cummings, Arthur Cummings, of the Old Brooklyn Stars, later of the Mutuals and finally of the Phillies, was their pitcher. Another player on the Philadelphia team that day was York, and he and Cummings amused the crowd at Princeton by throwing curves before the game and between the innings.

Cummings pitched "ins" and "outs" and York pitched "drops." The idea thereupon occurred to Mann to utilize these curious freaks of the ball in actual pitching to batsmen. By the arrival of the following spring he had completely mastered the art of pitching all three curves. On May 28, 1875, Mann pitched for Princeton against Harvard and by his wide and effective curve, the first time it was ever used in any game, succeeded in striking out the first eight batters who faced him. The ninth batter got a hit.

The Harvard players had no idea what was the trouble. About the fifth inning one of the Princeton players who had been standing behind the catcher reported to Captain Tyng that the balls were curving away from the batsman and there was an immediate exodus on the part of the Harvard players to the backstop to witness this unheard-of phenomenon. It was on the following day, May 29, 1875, that Mann really won his cognomen of "Iron Man," for then he went in again against Yale and with the use of his curves, pitched the first no-hit and no-run game in the history of baseball. Twenty-nine Yale men that day faced Mann. Princeton made eight base hits and scored three runs.

Today In Pugilistic Annals

1907—Billy Papke and Tony Caponi fought a 15-round draw at Davenport, Ill. This was the first important battle in which the Illinois Thunderbolt was a principal. Before that he had met only local boys around his Illinois home. Caponi was an Italian middleweight, hailing from St. Paul and had a wide reputation as a boxer with a punch backed up with much knowledge of how to use it. The Iowa fans at the ring side never figured that Papke had a chance, for Caponi was an experienced fighter and had several pounds advantage in weight. Their encounter was a ferocious, slug-fest affair and at the finish there was little or nothing to choose between them, although Papke was deserving of whatever shade there was. A little later Papke and Caponi fought another draw but by the close of the year Papke had gone ahead so far that when he met Caponi for the third time in Florida on November 14, he put the St. Paul man to sleep in the second round.

1909—Battling Nelson knocked out Dick Hyland in twenty-third round at Colma.

At Mameaux, of Pittsburgh, Pa., at least that is where his baseball checks are mailed, is twenty-three years of age today, and all baseball men are wondering whether or not this youngster is destined to be another Johnson or Mathewson or Joe McGinnity. Certainly his record of 21 victories out of 38 games last season brands him as a calibre of twirler who is destined to weaken very soon. In 1915 his record was even better, although he is not credited with having participated in so many games. Out of 23 contests in which he pitched, he won 21 of his games and eight of these victories were by the shut-out route. For a number of years this same Mameaux gave the dopsters much food for thought and it was the favorite pastime of that class of baseball bugs and writers to forecast exactly what sort of a career was ahead of this youthful pirate. Some soothsayers held that he was an "in-and-out" and would soon blow up. That was when he was in poor health and just before he had to retire from the game temporarily to undergo an operation for appendicitis. Of course, the last chapter in his baseball experience is not yet to be written, but casting a wicked eye at his record for the past two seasons indicates that he may indeed be another Alexander—and here's hoping that he is.

Studebaker

Built to Give Lasting Service

The Series 18 Studebakers are the best cars the great Canadian Studebaker factory at Walkerville, Ontario, has ever produced. They have been perfected by four years' experience with the same basic design.

They embody ninety distinct improvements in mechanical construction, convenience and comfort, over the Series 17, which made such a great record throughout the Dominion for Studebaker in 1916.

They are made of carefully selected materials, tested and developed in the great Studebaker laboratories.

Their workmanship is experienced, painstaking and carefully supervised. The inspections are rigid and exacting in the extreme.

Studebakers are probably the most powerful cars on the market in ratio to their weight. In ratio to power they are most economical in the consumption of gasoline.

For these reasons Studebakers stand up on the hardest, hilliest drives in all Canada and under the most racking tests of the road at a minimum cost for up-keep.

Let us prove the quality and economy of Studebakers—let us give you a thorough demonstration.

Fight By Rounds

The following is an account of the fight by rounds of the bout between Freddie Welsh and Benny Leonard which gave Leonard the lightweight championship.

Round 1—Leonard jabbed twice to the jaw and shot a right to the face. Welsh stabbed a left to the face and they clinched. Leonard shot a right to the head and then a right to the body. They sparred. Welsh keeps his hands close to his body. Leonard with a straight right at the bell.

Round 2—Welsh jabbed twice to the stomach, but Benny pulled away. Freddie was short with right hook for jaw. Benny danced around Welsh, trying with long lefts. Welsh shot left to body but Benny came right back with a left to wind that made the champion wince. Leonard shot right for the jaw, but Welsh was covered. Leonard forced the pace and landed a right hook to face at bell. Leonard's round.

Round 3—Welsh rushed and tried three left jabs for body. Leonard countered with a left to the face and crossed a right to the head. Welsh stabbed two lefts to body but Leonard managed to get right to the stomach. Welsh jabbed a left to the face and crossed a right hook to the jaw. Leonard was short with left, but put three quick rights to head. Leonard landed solidly with his left to face at the bell. Leonard's round.

Round 4—Leonard jabbed twice to face and Welsh returned the compliment. In a clinch Benny swung a hard right to the nose that drew blood. Leonard feinted with his left, then shot a wicked right to the jaw that staggered the champion. He put three hard rights and lefts to the jaw that had Freddie on the run. Welsh covered till his head cleared, then fought back blow for blow. It was Leonard's round.

Round 5—Leonard hooked a stiff left to face, but Welsh countered with a right to the chin. Leonard worked his right to the body and then shot a right to the face. Leonard stabbed half a dozen lefts at the face but Freddie had his gloves in the way. Leonard jabbed to the face twice, but was short with right to jaw. It was Leonard's round.

Round 6—Welsh seemed tired when he came up for the sixth. He jabbed several times with his left but Leonard straightened his rival up with a right to the side of the head. Both missed wicked rights. Welsh covered and worked in closer but Leonard kept a right uppercut working. He scored heavily in the third attempt. Welsh landed a stinging left jab to the face, beating Leonard's attempt to counter with a right. Leonard put several good rights to face just before the bell.

Round 7—They mixed it. Welsh showed his wonderful defense to the best advantage. He kept himself as well guarded as a turtle in his shell. His arms gloves or elbows were usually in the way of Leonard's torrent of blows. Welsh drove his hands to the ropes with left jabs. Welsh's round.

Round 9—They worked in close. Welsh was smiling a sardonic smile in which was far more apprehension than confidence. Welsh feinted and tried with his right after his left fell short. Benny danced away out of danger. He sidestepped, and after feinting with the right put all he had in a left swing that landed flush on the jaw. That was the punch that started the scales to shift decisively in Leonard's direction. Quick as a tiger Leonard sprang in. He shot the right that landed above Welsh's ear with such force that the Briton spun like a top and slipped to his knees. Leonard's corner. Referee Kid McPartland came to the rescue and pried Leonard away from his prey. The lightweight championship had come back once more to American Leonard was the new king of the division.

Leonard's Statement. As soon as Leonard was able to get an opportunity to speak he said: "I am very glad that at last I have won the championship. I felt confident I was Welsh's master and now I've proved it. I am not going to wait for conception for as soon as I get through with my engagement to box Joe Welsh at Philadelphia next Monday night I will voluntarily enlist in the United States army and do my bit. Just at this time it is doubly gratifying to me that I have brought the championship back to the United States and if I am spared I hope to be ready to defend it against all comers for a fairly long period."

Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, featherweight champion, before the bout began challenged the winner. As soon as Leonard had won Matt Hinchel, of Cleveland, a boxing promoter, who was at the ringside, immediately offered a purse of $25,000 for a 12 or 15 round bout between Leonard and Kilbane to take place at Canton, Ohio, on July 4, and arranged for all parties concerned to meet him this afternoon. Gibson, on behalf of Leonard, said that if he could arrange for such a bout he would gladly do so and the men may be signed up today.

Bedrock in Prices

Glance over the Dunlop Automobile Tire Prices of representative sizes shown below and keep these facts in mind:—

- No other standard make of tires can be purchased at lower prices than Dunlop Tires sell at. (If so, they must be "seconds.")
- No other standard make of tires can show reasons why they should be purchased at higher prices than Dunlop Tires sell at.
- Tires lower-priced than Dunlop mean a loss to you in the end.
- Tires higher-priced than Dunlop mean a loss to you at the beginning and no gain to you in the end.
- If anybody tells you they have lower-priced tires than Dunlop, tell them possibly so but more than likely their tires are Unknown and Untried.
- If anybody tries to sell you higher-priced tires than Dunlop, ask them to name a single virtue in their product not found in Dunlop Tires—"Traction Tread," "Special," or "Plain."
- Dunlop prices are standardized prices for standardized Quality. Dunlop Tires have been made in Canada since 1894. Therefore, Dunlop means "Dean of the Tire Industry."

DYSPEPSIA

MOST DIFFICULT TO CURE

BUT B.B.B. DOES IT

Dyspepsia is one of the most difficult diseases of the stomach there is to cure.

You eat too much; drink too much; make the stomach work overtime. You make it perform more than it should be called on to do. The natural result is that it is going to rebel against the amount of work put on it. It is only a matter of time before dyspepsia follows.

That forty-year-old remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters, will cure the dyspepsia and will cure it to stay cure as we can prove by the thousands of testimonials we receive from time to time.

Mr. Neil A. Cameron, Kiltarity, N.S., writes: "I am writing you a few lines to tell you what your great medicine has done for me. I was troubled very much with dyspepsia for the past two years, but they did not help me any. At last a friend advised me to try a bottle of B.B.B. I took four bottles and was totally cured. I will gladly recommend it to all sufferers."

B.B.B. is manufactured only by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto Ont.

The Real Secret of

Rejuvenating the Face

She holds the true secret of facial rejuvenation who has learned how to remove the dead skin particles as fast as they appear. It's a secret and a beautiful one. The aged, faded, or discolored surface may be gradually absorbed, in an entirely safe and rational manner, by the slightly application of ordinary mercurized wax. Within a week or two the underlying skin, youthful and beautiful, is revealed. So little of the old skin is absorbed each day that there is no inconvenience at all, and no one suspects you are putting anything on your face. The mercurized wax, procurable at any drugstore (an ounce is sufficient), is applied like cold cream. In the morning it is erased with soap and water. It's the best thing known for freckles, blackheads, pimples, moles, patches, liver spots and fine surface wrinkles.

For the deeper wrinkles and crow's feet, an excellent and harmless recipe is: Powdered saffron, one ounce, dissolved in one-half pint with honey, rubbing the face in the solution produces quick and wonderful results. It is fine for saggy cheeks or chin.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 30, 1917.

The Journal informs its readers that the Sifton Government is "of the same character" as the late Roblin Government of Manitoba. That is a gratuitous and undeserved reflection upon the Lieutenant Governor of this Province. When he became convinced that the Roblin Government was dishonest Lieutenant Governor Cameron forced Sir Rodmond Roblin's resignation, and nobody has suggested that he did other or less than his duty as the representative of the King and the custodian of public interests. If Lieutenant Governor Brett were convinced that the Sifton Government was dishonest it would be his duty to demand the resignation of Premier Sifton. His Honor has not taken the action Lieutenant Governor Cameron took in Manitoba, and which it was clearly his duty to take if convinced that his advisers were of the Roblin type. The reason for his not taking the action is obvious. In face of it the Journal's allegation that the Sifton Government is of the type of the Roblin Government is a reflection upon the conduct of Lieutenant Governor Brett which no one who knows him will for a moment tolerate.

Opposition candidates profess themselves to be much distressed at the "great wrong" done in giving the soldiers and nurses overseas the privilege of selecting and electing two members to represent them in the next Legislature. What should have been done, they contend, was to allow each soldier and nurse to vote only for his or her choice of the candidates running in the constituency in which he or she resides when at home. Sir Robert Borden, after visiting the front, has declared that it would be practically impossible to carry through an arrangement of the kind in such a way as to give the soldiers and nurses a fair chance to cast their votes, and to have a correct return made of the vote; an opinion that has been strikingly verified by the ridiculous efforts of British Columbia to take a vote of the overseas soldiers on the question of prohibition. But supposing it could and had been done, what would have been the result? Automatically, of course, a large percentage of our soldiers and nurses would have been disfranchised—all those coming from constituencies represented in the last Legislature by soldiers, who have been by act continued as members of the new House. As elections are not being held in these ridings the soldiers and nurses residing in such districts would have been deprived of any chance to vote at all. And obviously, the soldiers and nurses from ridings in which elections are being held could not have any voice in the selection and nomination for candidates. They would have been restricted, therefore, to the privilege of voting for one of two or three candidates nominated in their absence and without their participation, and in many cases unknown to them even by name. And the votes cast by the soldiers and nurses for such candidate would have been swamped, and lost sight of in the general vote from the constituencies. As a result there would not have been, and could not have been, in the next Legislature, a single member entitled to claim that he represented the expressed opinions of the soldiers and nurses overseas. In other words, the Opposition claim is that the soldiers and nurses from eleven constituencies in the Province should have been disfranchised absolutely; and that it is, in some unexplained way, an "outrage" to allow these most deserving classes of our citizens to select and elect two members who will be recognized as expressing their declared opinions in the Legislature.

So far as woman suffrage is concerned the essential facts are that the Opposition refused to even put it in their platform while the Government put it in the statute book.

On one point at least there is unanimity. After a survey of the situation throughout the Province, members of the Government and Liberals who are working in the campaign agree with Mr. Michener that this is not at all a favorable time for him to have to face the electors.

The Journal admits that Hon. Robert Rogers should resign, but is careful to not suggest that Sir Robert Borden should ask him to resign. It is a safe guess that the Hon. Robert will not get out until he is told to, perhaps not until he is paid to. But, in case Sir Robert should not have the nerve to fire him or to buy him out, the Journal discreetly steers clear of suggesting that it is his duty to do so.

In the southern part of the Province Opposition candidates are using the campaign cry that naturalized citizens who were born in enemy countries should be disfranchised. If this is a plank in Mr. Michener's platform it is right that the fact should be known. What about the three Opposition candidates in Edmonton? Do they stand also to demand the disfranchisement of naturalized citizens if they get elected?

An Opposition is next stage to useless which cannot propose as well as oppose. To elevate an Opposition of that type to the direction of Provincial affairs would be nothing short of a tragedy in a Province whose growth and development requires a government policy of aggressive progressiveness. Mr. Michener and his followers have been as woefully wanting in the talent for proposing as they have been wastefully rich in the disposition to factious criticism. They are unfitted for the duties of an Opposition; much less for those of a Government.

In his address Saturday night he Minister of Public Works intimated that the Provincial Government is "exercising common sense in regard to construction work, by leaving as much of this as is not urgent to be done in the period following the war, when men will be more plentiful than jobs. It is unfortunate that the Dominion and other Provincial Governments have not done likewise. Prudent regard to the future requires that we accept the fact that the cessation of the war and war activities will release a vast number of men for the employments of peace, and it is the business of Governments to prepare to meet that condition by "laying up" whatever work can be postponed until the soldiers return and the munition plants are closed down.

Mr. Armand Lavergne is a politician first, whatever he may be afterward. He has never proclaimed the doctrines of Nationalism without an ulterior object in sight. His permanent strategy is a talk in Quebec for effect in the other provinces; to preach sedition in Quebec in such a way as to persuade the people of other provinces that the people of Quebec are traitors, and that therefore Sir Wilfrid Laurier—being of French-Canadian origin—must be either a traitor or under the domination of traitors. He did this in 1911, and did it successfully, in a campaign financed by Conservative money, and officially sanctioned and assisted by the withdrawal of Conservative candidates in every constituency in which a Nationalist candidate was put in the field. As reward for his services he was offered a place in the Borden Government, and lieutenant in his organization were given charge of three of the important portfolios—honors which their successors still hold. The actions of Mr. Lavergne speak louder than his words. He is today carrying on the same old campaign, pretending to stir up his turbulent followers against the Borden Government, but really stirring up feeling in the other provinces against Quebec and the Quebec leader of the Liberal party. Is he drawing his pay from the same source, and working, as before, under promise that he and his friends shall be duly remembered when the spoils come to be divided if they again beat Laurier? If not, why has he not been asked to quit?

No More "Kidding" The Prince.

It has been suggested that the day for "kidding" the Prince has gone. It has. The Prince has come into its own. The Prince is a reasonable fruit now. The foods that used to lord it over the Prince on the boarding-house table every now and then have gone as high in the air as the Prince himself. The few foods still within reach of the masses. It is the good old standby, and woe unto him who "bawls out" his best friend.

Neither Must Canada.

President Wilson says the United States must not play an inefficient and jangling part in the war. Neither must Canada play such a part.

Where Could We Get a Competent Government.

In matters pertaining directly and indirectly to the war in the Federal Government, doing so well as to banish all criticism, or so badly that former critics have become disheartened and given up in despair? It is much to be feared that the latter is the case. Our Canadian Home Defence force is a flimsy affair. Recruiting for overseas is a dead end in the sea. The influence of Quebec is still "shy" seventy per cent of its allotted enlistment. The Maritime provinces are still forty-seven per cent short. Ontario continues to be a small per cent behind. We are crying for more food production, and farmers who came cityward a year or more ago, their acres fallow, Bourassa and Lavergne are still out of the cooler, and in last voices damning the British Government and all that belongs to it.

It is a pity that the Government, and its amiable administration of Sir George Perley and his petticoat assistants and advisers, officers are receiving decorations, as staff appointments—this they in no way deserve. Next to growing food we are told the most important thing is to grow food, but the Government enacting any legislation whereby any saving can be effected certainly got it. It is too busy defending its political existence to think of such a thing. An enactment cutting down and simplifying the means of our hotels, restaurants and clubs would meet with the approval of citizens generally. The question is whether the Government is willing to do it. It drives the owners of these resorts to place elaborate bills-of-fare before their guests. The other day I counted forty-seven separate bills-of-fare on one club menu. One-quarter of this would have done as well. Unless every expert on the continent is of the opinion that the British Government and Canada are going to be short of food by autumn, unless we sit back content to let the Allies starve, all this "kidding" under the pleasant name of "kidding" is the thing which the Government enacting any legislation whereby any saving can be effected certainly got it. It is too busy defending its political existence to think of such a thing. An enactment cutting down and simplifying the means of our hotels, restaurants and clubs would meet with the approval of citizens generally. The question is whether the Government is willing to do it. It drives the owners of these resorts to place elaborate bills-of-fare before their guests. The other day I counted forty-seven separate bills-of-fare on one club menu. One-quarter of this would have done as well. Unless every expert on the continent is of the opinion that the British Government and Canada are going to be short of food by autumn, unless we sit back content to let the Allies starve, all this "kidding" under the pleasant name of "kidding" is the thing which the Government enacting any legislation whereby any saving can be effected certainly got it. CITY COMMISSIONERS,
Civic Block.

OTTAWA, May 29.—The deputation representing the Winnipeg exchange, which is here to see Sir George Foster, will have another conference with the minister of trade and commerce this afternoon. Pending the conclusion of their deliberations, the members of the deputation are not disposed to say much, beyond intimating that the purpose in view is to preserve intact the existing channels of the grain trade and to eliminate as far as possible the speculative element in the market. The deputation is working in co-operation with the Imperial wheat purchasing commission. The representations made it is said, have received a sympathetic hearing by Sir George, and it is anticipated that the proposals designed to accomplish the objects aimed at will be the result of the conferences being held.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, May 29.—Wheat prices developed strength today owing to decided upturns in the value of coarse grain. At first, however, the wheat market was inclined to sag on account of a bearish crop estimate from Missouri. Trade was only of a scattered character. Opening prices, which ranged from unchanged figures to 2½¢ lower, with July at 20¼ to 20½ and September at 18½, were followed by a rise all around to well above yesterday's finish.

Unexpected scantiness of offerings from the country led to a rush on the part of the shorts to buy corn. After opening sale to 2½¢ higher, prices ceased further gains and then underwent something of a reaction. Oats happened with corn. Sellers were scarce. Provisions also followed the lead of corn. Shippers found little for sale when they tried to cover.

After the market eased off a little as a result of reports that continued cool showers were warping out the Kansas crop wonderfully and that yields were likely to be larger than had been expected, the close was unsettled 2½¢ lower to ½¢ advance, with July at 2½¢ and September 28½¢.

Adventures of Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

Uncle Wiggily and the Apple Dumplings.

Copyright, 1917, by McClure News-Paper Syndicate.

Forward—march!

Uncle Wiggily Longears, the gentleman rabbit soldier, stood out in front of the white tent near his hollow stump bungalow, and called this to the animal boys.

"Where are we going to march to?" asked Peetle Bow Wow, one of the puppy dog boys.

"Never mind asking questions, if you please," said the bumpy uncle with a smile, making his pink nose twinkle like a star on a Christmas tree. "A soldier should do as he is told, and not ask where or how, Forward—march!"

Then Johnnie Bushytail, the boy squirrel, took two sticks he had gnawed from a tree, and with them he beat on the bottom of a starch box, which was hanging around his neck.

"Kub-a-dub-dub! Kub-a-dub-dub!" drummed Johnnie, and the soldier boys marched away from the camp tent with Uncle Wiggily at their head, like the captain he was.

"We are going to capture some—!" Uncle Wiggily began, when they all stopped for a drink of water at a spring.

"Don't say we are going to capture some mosquitoes!" interrupted Billie Wagtail, the goat. "I didn't bring any talcum powder with me, and if one of them bites—"

"We are not going after mosquitoes," said Uncle Wiggily. "We are going on what is called a foraging party. That is, we are going to see what we can capture to eat, for we soldiers in this mosquito war, must live. So forward—march! again and we'll see what we can capture."

They marched along a little farther, and all of a sudden, Johnnie-bushytail stopped, beating his starch-box drum and cried:

"Ha! I see something to capture!"

"Halt! That is stop!" commanded Uncle Wiggily. "What do you see, Johnnie?"

"Some early apples over in that orchard," spoke the squirrel drummer boy. "They are good to eat!"

"Halt! No! Don't take them!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "In the first place they are not ours, and in the second place they are green and will make you ill so you can't fight in the mosquito battles."

"But I will buy some of the green apples from the monkey farmer who owns them, and then I'll cook them in dumplings for you, so they will not hurt you. Halt here, everybody, until I go buy some of the dumpling apples," said the bumpy rabbit.

So Captain Uncle Wiggily, as I will call him once in awhile, with his bean shooter gun on his shoulder, went to buy some of the green apples, coming back with his tail silk hat quite full of them.

"Will they be enough?" asked Sammie Littlebit.

"Oh, yes," Uncle Wiggily answered. "I don't have to soak these in water, as I did the rice, and make twice as much of it as I need. I have seen Nurse Jane Kangaroo, my muskrat lady housekeeper, make apple dumplings, and full well I know how it is done. I'll make some as soon as we get back to camp, and we'll have them for dinner."

After a little march about with his animal soldier boy friends, Uncle Wiggily came back to his tent near the hollow stump bungalow and began making the apple dumplings.

"First he mixed up some flour, water, sugar, butter, eggs and other things into a crust like that for pies, only different. While he was doing this the animal boys were practicing with their bean shooter outside."

Then when he had the dumpling parts made and ready to go into the oven Uncle Wiggily took the green apples out of his tail silk hat, which held almost a rabbit bushel.

"Let me see, now," said the bumpy uncle thoughtfully to himself. "I think it is now time to put the apples in the dumplings. Then to bake them, and they will be ready to eat!"

So into the dough-dumpling part the bumpy uncle rabbit gentleman put the apples, and in the oven of the soldier tent he popped them. Then he sat down to wait until they were cooked.

It did not take very long, for the fire was hot, and soon there was a sweet delicious smell, like almond powder, only nicer. Uncle Wiggily sniffed it, and taking a peep in the oven at the dumplings, and finding them well baked and done, he pulled them out to cool.

They were just about ready to eat, and the bumpy was going to taste of one and then call in his soldier boy animal friends, when, all at once, into the tent popped a bad fox, who was a sort of general over all the mosquitoes.

"Ah, ha!" snarled the fox, sniffing the air. "I was not mistaken! I thought I smelled apple dumplings. I'll try one!" And he reached his paw for the largest one on the pan.

"No! You must not!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Those are for my brave mosquito-fighting soldiers."

"What care I?" barked the fox, in different-like, and with that he bit into an apple dumpling.

But no sooner had he done so than he spluttered and coughed and he had the hicoughs and tears came into his eyes as he rushed out of the tent after a drink of water, crying:

"Hum! Do you call those fit to eat? I don't!" and away he ran, having eaten but one dumpling, and that only partly.

"I wonder what is the matter with him?" Uncle Wiggily asked Nurse Jane, who came in the tent just then. The muskrat lady looked at the dumplings and laughed.

"Why, Wiggily," she cried. "You forgot to take the cores out of the apples, and the fox choked on the hard, scratchy part with the seeds in it. You must take the cores out of apples for dumplings."

"Ha! I knew I had forgotten something," said the bumpy. "Well, it's a good thing I did, otherwise the fox would have eaten them all."

So Nurse Jane, with a sharp knife, took the cores out of the apples while they were still in the dumplings, and the animal boy soldiers then ate them, saying they were fine.

And if the broiled egg doesn't stand on its head and try to peel a bushel of soap bubbles in the parlor, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the clothes.

Dear Uncle Tom—I received your letter to your club as did get my letters in the paper. I thought I would write again: I will be eleven the third of November. I have four sisters and three brothers. We have a horse that is mean. One last summer when we came home we were taken to the hospital. I have two cousins and jumped around. I ran to the wagon and one of my sisters ran in and the other ran in and ran. First the horse ran after my sister then after my brother and at last he ran right into the wagon box where I was. I got afraid and ran to the house; then the horse ran into the barn. I am always afraid of that horse now.
